Typically, many Excel users tend to link a cell to another sheet using the name of the worksheet in the hyperlink. But when you change the name of the leaf, the hyperlink will also break. And you will get a punctual box that is displayed below the screenshot. How about creating a dynamic hyperlink to another sheet in Excel? The dynamic hyperlink will not break with the renaming of the blade. Please do this. CREATE Hyperlink Dynamic to another sheet in Excel Create dynamic hyperlink to another sheet in ExcelPlaud. Do the following to create a dynamic hyperlink to another spreadsheet in Excel.1. Select a cell on the spreadsheet you need to link to. Here I select Cell A1. Then enter a range name (MYRANGE) in the Name box. See the screenshot: NOTE: You can specify any range name as you need it.2. Go back to the worksheet, place the hyperlink, select a cell, enter the formula below in it, and press the ENTER key. = HyperLink ("# MYRANGE", "CHANGE TO ALL") NOTE: In the formula, MYRANGE is the name of the range you created in Step 1, and Shift to there is the displayed text of the hyperlink. Now the dynamic hyperlink to another leaf is created. Click the link, it will jump to the specified worksheet successfully whether the name of the worksheet is changed or not. Related articles: Linking Word to Excel You can use the Word hyperlink field to link from a Word document to an Excel book. To link to a specific location in the Excel file, specify an absolute address or a range name. You can create a clickable hyperlink in a Word document that will open an Excel file. Sometimes you just need to open the Excel book. Sometimes you want the link to go to a specific place in the Excel book. This page explains how. How to create a link to an Excel book in your Word document, DO CTRL-F9. Within straps that the word gives you, write the following: HyperLink "C:\My Documents\MyExcelFile.XLS", so it looks like {hyperlink "c:\my documents\myexcelfile.xls"} but have Account that you hypocrey hypocrise by hand. You must use Ctrl-F9 and write between the keys that Word gives you. Obviously, you need to replace the text in quotation marks with your own folder and file name. Make sure you use double bars towards Care (À «\À») in your route name. When you have finished, press F9, which changes between showing the field codes (which you just wrote) and the result of the field (which is hypervincer). When you click on the link, Excel will run and open your Excel book. CLIC, or CTRL-click to link? By default, you need to do Ctrl-click to follow a hyperlink from a Word document. If you do not like it, you can change it. In Word 2003 and earlier versions, make tools> Options. On the tab Edit, uncheck «Use Ctrl + click to follow hypervincer.» In Word 2007 and Word 2010 File> Word or file options> Options. In the advanced tab, in the Edition options section, uncheck «Use Ctrl + click to follow hyperlink. How to create a link to a specific place in an Excel book here has two options. You can choose to link to an absolute direction. Or, you can link to a range name. How to link to an absolute direction in an Excel Book in its Word document, do Ctrl-F9. Inside the brackets that Word gives you, write so that it is seen as follows: {hyperlink À «c:\My documents\maxcellfile.xls # misheet! A1 À» If the name of your sheet contains a space, then must enclose it in simple quotes, thus: {hyperlink À «c:\My Documents\My Sheet.xls # à €™ MY SHEET"! A1À» Alternatively, you can use the \L option (which is a min minacula) for Identify the name of the range: {hyperlink À «c:\mydocuments\melexcelfile2.xls» \L À «à €™ Sheet 1"! A1À» How to link to a rank name in an Excel Book to create a Hypervanculus to a Range Name of Worksheet, use Ctrl-F9 and write to see as follows: {hyperlink À «c:\My RangeName! To create a hyperlink to a Workbook range name, use ctrl-F9 and write to see it as follows: { HYPERLINK HYPERLINKDocuments\MyExCelfile3.xls # rangename"} However... Wouldn't the word be a word if it were always that way forward? Excel is confused if you have a range of workbooks and a range of worksheets with the same name. That seems to link the rank to random. Therefore, if you use rank names, make sure that all are specific to the sheet or all books wide. Or use an absolute address. How to add a screen tip to a hyperlink You can use the switch \o (that's a smaller box or not a zero) to create information about tools, such as this: {HyperLink "C:\My documents\myexCelfile3.xls # rangename" \o "Click here to open MyExCelfile3"} This Excel tutorial explains how to create a hyperlink to another cell in Excel 2010 (with screenshots and step-by-step instructions). Question: I want to create a hyperlink in Microsoft Excel 2010. How do I specify a particular place that a hyperlink should point to? Answer: To create a hyperlink to another cell in your spreadsheet, right-click the cell where the hyperlink should go. Select Hyperlink from the pop-up menu. When the Insert Hyperlink window appears, click on the "place in this document" on the left. Enter the text to show. In this example, we've entered "Hipermele to Cell A5". This is the value to be displayed in Excel. Then enter the cell reference to which the hyperlink points. We've chosen to link to cell A5. Click the OK button. Now, when you get back to the spreadsheet, you should see the hyperlink. If you click on the hyperlink, your active cell should become cell A5.
